Pittsburgh Steel Net Income Drops

Decline Is Blamed On Strike

The 1956 net income for Pittsburgh Steel Co. amounted to $6,225,000, President Allison R. Maxwell, Jr., said in an announcement today.

He said this is equal to $3.24 per share on 1,519,165 shares of common stock outstanding on De. 31, 1956. The net income for 1955 was $7,515,470, equal to $4.09 per share on the same number of common shares.

Maxwell reported record high sales of $178,275,626 for 1956. He stated, however, that profits for 1956 were adversely affected by the 34-day nationwide steel strike.

He also reported that fourth-quarter shipments of finished products were at a lower rate than during the first half of the year when the firm was able to supplement shipments of finished products by the purchase of outside steel.

Big Expansion

At the present time, the company has an excess of finishing capacity. However, these production facilities will be balanced by the current 21 million dollar expansion program. Additional ingot capacity is being made available during 1957 with the completion of the open hearth expansion, which will provide for an annual increase of 180,000 ingot tons.

In 1956, $9,500,000 was spent for plant improvements, and $11,000,000 of capital expenditures remain to complete the current expansion program.

Total shipments of all products in 1956 was 1,077,000 net tons as compared with 1,132,000 in 1955. The ingot operating rate was 86.4 percent as compared with 98.8 percent in the previous year.

Demand to Be High

Maxwell said that first quarter operations are scheduled at capacity, and the demand for Pittsburgh Steel's flat-rolled products should remain at satisfactory levels in the second quarter.

He stated further that the continued high level of activity among consumers of tubular goods — both oil country and seamless specialties — as well as seasonal improvements in the demand for construction products lend strength to Pittsburgh Steel's prospects of keeping second quarter ingot production near present peak levels.

Report for year ended December 31, 1956:

	1956	1955
Net Sales ..	$178,275,626	$176,732,232
Income Taxes	6,512,000	7,600,000
Net Income	6,225,000	7,515,470

Shopping Center Plans Revealed In Carroll Twp.

Plans announced yesterday call for a shopping center to be built this Fall at Wickerham Corners in Carroll Township. The announcement said a Kroger Company supermarket and six or seven other stores will make up the center.

The Mon-Yough Realty Co., made up of six McKeesport businessmen, has purchased 3¼ acres, or approximately 132,000 square feet, at Wickerham Corners located north of Charleroi off Route 88.

The price of the ground purchased from William and Paul Wickerham amounted to $76,000, it was said.

Construction work is expected to begin this Summer.

Kroger Co., a nationally known food chain, yesterday signed a long-term lease with the realty firm. The company plans to erect a store covering some 16,800 square feet. Approximately 75 per cent of the store's personnel will be from the immediate district, it was announced. Parking space for 250 cars is expected.

The names of the six or seven other firms interested in locating in the center have not been revealed.

Israeli Forces Clash With UN Troops as Border Tension Grows

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) — A clash between Israeli and U. N. Emergency Forces (UNEF) and growing tension along the Israeli-Egyptian border lent force today to U. N. demands that Israel quit Egyptian territory at once.

The General Assembly begins weekend debate today on new, American-backed proposals to get Israel out of Egypt and take steps to maintain Middle East peace. U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. was expected to address the group at today's session.

The situation was given a note of urgency when the United Nations announced that a Swedish patrol of UNEF exchanged fire with Israeli soldiers near the Gaza Strip Friday morning. No casualties were reported.

First Israeli Exchange

It was the first clash involving UNEF and Israeli soldiers, although a Yugoslav unit complained earlier of Israeli mines. UNEF troops exchanged fire with Egyptian terrorists in Port Said shortly after the international force entered the area.

A U.N. spokesman said the clash occurred near Rafah at the Egyptian end of the Gaza Strip. He said five Israeli soldiers chasing a group of refugees failed to answer the challenge of a Swedish patrol and that both sides exchanged gunfire.

UNEF Commander Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns of Canada sent a "strong protest" to Israel.

The Israel commander apologized to the U.N. officers present but said the UNEF had no right to fire and should have told the Israeli patrol it had entered forbidden territory.

A foreign office spokesman reported new mining incidents in the Negev Desert during the past two days and said this was proof Egypt was renewing its Fedayeen (guerrilla) attacks from the Sinai Desert.

The spokesman said the presence of U.N. troops makes no difference to Egypt's policy.

Grand Jury Completes Work In Washington

The Washington County February grand jury completed its week of duty yesterday and the district attorney's office began clearing the decks for the start of jury trials a week from Monday.

Nearly 60 indictments were returned by the jury with all the defendants required to appear for arraignment to plead guilty or not guilty.

The murder trials will be included on the list.

Yesterday the grand jury refused to indict Philip Moten, of Canton Township, for murder in the death last Sept. 13 of Jerry Eddins. Instead, the jury returned a bill of voluntary manslaughter.

Eddins' body, showing evidence of a beating, was found in a bed in a Canton Township shack following a night of drinking. Moten consistently denied to police that he remembered any events leading up to the death of Eddins, although Moten did not deny that he was living with the victim and was there the night of the death.

Other indictments yesterday included:

James Rocco. Donora, making check with intent to defraud and false pretenses; Fred Randolph, wilful neglect to support a child, and Joseph Cupplo, Uniontown, worthless check.

Clerk of State House Collapses In His Office

HARRISBURG (UP)—William E. Habbyshaw, chief clerk of the House of Representatives and a Dauphin County Republican leader, was reported in "still serious" condition today at Harrisburg Hospital after collapsing in his office at the capitol Friday.

Dr. Kenneth E. Quickel, who treated the 64-year-old Habbyshaw after his collapse, said the clerk suffered a rupture of a blood vessel near the heart. Dr. Quickel said the heart itself was not impaired.

Habbyshaw has served as chief and aid to Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, complained of feeling ill while having coffee in the cafeteria and was aided to his office. When his condition became worse he was rushed to the hospital.

Habbyshaw ha served as chief clerk of the House since 1943 except during the period when the Democrats controlled the Legislature in the 1955-56 session. Prior to that time he served 10 years as a representative from Dauphin County.

37 Cases Handled By County Coroner

Thirty-seven cases were handled by the Westmoreland County coroner's office during January, it was announced today by Stephen D. Yoney, coroner.

Two persons were killed in traffic accidents and two more died of carbon monoxide. One pedestrian was killed by a train, a second died in a mine accident and another was fatally injured in a fall.

Heart disease continued to account for most of the deaths, claiming 23 victims last month.

Cold Blast Topples Mercury in Midwest

By UNITED PRESS

A fresh puff of wintry air threatened to topple the mercury below the zero mark in the Midwest today.

The cold blast snorted in from the plain states, where it had frosted noses and chilled ears. Temperatures along the northern border of the country sagged low on thermometers, and International Falls, Minn., reported a brisk 23 below zero early today.

The arctic air was expected to ramble through the Ohio Valley, eastward to the Atlantic Coast today. Meanwhile, the northern plains warmed up a bit in the wake of the cold mass. Most of the area west of the Rockies was in for chillier weather today, except Arizona and New Mexico, where it was warmer.

Snow in East

Snow swirled over the New England area and the eastern Ohio Valley Friday night. Rain also continued in the flood-bathed southeastern section of the nation. Night-time rains were light, however, as they dampened land from North Carolina through Georgia to the Louisiana coast.

A foggy cloak was draped across the middle Mississippi Valley and overlapped into the Ohio Valley and Middle Atlantic states.

Although snow falls were generally light in the East Friday, from two to four inches piled up in parts of Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Light snow flurries drifted onto the Rockies Friday and a mixture of rain and snow sloshed over parts of the northern Pacific Coast.

Police Believe Woman's Slayer Known to Her

LEECHBURG, Pa. (UP)—Police investigating the slaying of Mrs. Emily Foster worked on the theory today that the 25-year-old housewife knew the person who struck her down in the street outside her apartment.

Capt. Lester Rimmel of the Leechburg police said there was no evidence that the victim had struggled with her assailant. She was found dying of four skull fractures by her husband Wednesday night.

Investigators began questioning all persons with whom Mrs. Foster had associated during the past year. An officer said police are "running out all tips and leads, but up to now we don't have anything definite."

Officers searched a 10 - block area surrounding the Foster apartment seeking the "blunt instrument" used by the slayer without success.

McKeesport Man Sentenced to Jail

PITTSBRGH (UP) — Frank Sudarich, 31, 2517 Riverview Ave., McKeesport, was sentenced to jail and ordered to make $700 restitution Friday after he pleaded guilty to drunk driving, larceny of a truck and burglary.

Police said Sudarich stole a truck owned by H. C. Smith, a neighbor, on Jan. 3, 1956, and damaged it. They said he also stole clothing from Smith's home.

Miami-bound Liner Pancakes Near La Guardia

NEW YORK (UP) — A four-engine, Northeast airliner, packed with 94 persons bound for the sunny South, crashed and burned Friday night in a blinding snowstorm.

Twenty were killed and 72 injured.

The cause of the crash was a mystery.

The Douglas DC6A was headed for Miami when it pancaked onto Riker's Island, a city prison in the East River, which is a short hop over water from La Guardia Airport. The plane left there at 6:01 p.m. It crashed seconds later.

The Civil Aeronautics Board immediately ordered an investigation into the crash.

All five crew members and a stewardess making a test run survived. The pilot was Capt. Alva V. Marsh, who was suspended by the airline for 21 days following a crash in the East River on Jan. 14, 1952.

A congressional investigation into the crash was demanded by Rep. Steven B. Derounian (R-NY), who said he wanted to know why the takeoff was cleared "in a blinding snowstorm after several hours of delay."

Enroute To Miami

Officials said DC6A can carry up to 104 passengers. The 94 persons aboard the ill-fated plane included six children.

The Northeast airliner, a converted cargo plane leased from the Flying Tiger Line, crashed after taking off from LaGuardia Airport at 6:01 p.m. EST Friday. It was enroute to Miami.

The plane never seemed to gain altitude, witnesses reported. It crumpled in flames on Riker's Island near the end of LaGuardia Runway No. 4. Riker's is operated by the city as a prison for minor offenders.

The plane narrowly missed the city prison which houses 3,000 inmates. It careened onto an open area, cracked in the middle and burned.

About 40 of the prisoners helped in rescue work. Some carried the injured in their arms to the Rikers Island hospital. Officials had high praise for the convicts' work.

Account Of Stewardess

"We had just got the safety belts on and the plane was still climbing," stewardess Catherine Virchow, 26, of Boston, said. "Then fire and everything at once occurred. I don't know if it was an explosion."

Northeast had begun its service to Florida only 25 days ago. The DC6A it rented from Flying Tiger was a converted cargo plane of a type used to bring refugees and Army personnel from Europe and can carry as many as 104 passengers and crew.

The crash was Marsh's third misfortune in the millions of miles he has flown for the airline. On Jan. 14, 1952 he crash landed in the East River near the scene of Friday's mishap while bringing 33 passengers from Boston. All passengers and crew were saved with only a few injuries and Marsh was hailed as the hero of this crash, but the Civil Aeronautics Administration suspended him for violating ceiling limits.

Marsh also was at the controls

Six-year-old Tells Story of Plane Crash

(Nancy Tulowiecki, a blue-eyed, brown-haired six-year-old from South Lancaster, Mass., was among the uninjured survivors of the New York plane crash.)

By NANCY TULOWIECKI

NEW YORK (UP)—When my daddy and I got on the plane at the big field we sat on the left side in the third seat from the front. I was sitting near the window and Daddy was sitting on the outside.

After the plane took off I heard little bumps and I thought it was funny, like a roller coaster.

Then all of a sudden there was a big bump, and the plane started to fall. I was coloring at the time and my daddy was reading. Then the lights went out and the suitcases started falling down from the shelves. Then the plane started to tip this way and that way.

The belts came off us and everybody else and there was a lot of fire. I heard somebody yell that there was a fire in the left motor. People started screaming and running.

Daddy held my hand tight and I started to cry a little. Then he picked me up and followed two men who went through a hole in the side of the plane.

Then my daddy put me down and we started running and running. The fire at the plane, got bigger and bigger and ambulances and fire trucks came.

They put us on the bus and they put some other people whose skin was peeling and burned into the ambulances. Then they took us to the hospital. We didn't have time to take our suitcases. Neither did the rest of the people.

My daddy and I were going down to Florida for a little vacation. I guess we won't get to go now.

Six Die When 'Flying Tankers' Collide in France

ST. LO, France (UP) — Two four-engined U. S. Air Force "flying tankers" crashed in flames near here today. First reports indicated 11 of their 19 crewmen may have perished.

A U. S. Air Force announcement listed six known dead, eight injured and five unaccounted for.

The planes, two of a flight of three modified B29 atom bombers on a routine mission from their English base, crashed on the outskirts of Morigny, 14 miles southeast of here in the North French applejack belt of Normandy.

The bodies of the six known dead were laid out in the Morigny town hall.

At least two of the survivors were said to have parachuted to safety, with only minor injuries.

U. S. Air Force headquarters in London said one of the downed planes carried 9 crewmen and the other 10. The third plane in the flight returned safely to its base at Sculthorpe, England.

French press reports said three planes were involved in the crash, but police said they knew of only two.

Site Selected for Four-lane, High-level Brownsville Bridge

Plans for a new $7,000,000 bridge across the Monongahela River, linking Brownsville with West Brownsville, were approved yesterday by the State Highways Department.

The long-awaited announcement on the erection of the high-level span was made by Secretary of Highways Joseph J. Lawler after a conference of state and federal highways officials.

The four-lane bridge will be 2,110 feet long and will be at a 150-foot level. It will be toll-free.

Lawler said the bridge would be a phase in the program for relocating U. S. Route 40 and will be a state and federal project. Another planned Route 40 project is the building of a four-lane stretch from Washington west to the West Virginia border.

The bridge, Lawler said, will extend from the top of the hill overlooking West Brownsville, one-third of a mile south of Blainesburg, to a point at Market street and Third avenue on the north side of Brownsville, in Fayette County.

Entering both approaches to the bridge will be a four-lane highway running about two miles east and west of Brownsville.

The project may be put up for competitve bidding in the summer, Lawler said. Construction is expected to start late this year or early in 1958.

The cost of the entire project was not announced, but it is estimated the relocation and construction of approaching roads will cost some $17 million.

Engineering consultants who have been working on line locations have promised to have all the plans completed by June 1. In the meantime, engineering plans for the bridge itself will continue.

The western approach to the bridge, in Washington County, will be on the west side of Krepps' Knob and will hook into the new section of Route 40 in Centerville Borough.

There also will be a major relocation of Route 88, with the new section to be a part of Route 40. An interchange will hook Routes 88 and 40 at a point south of Blainesburg and the two highways will run together to a cloverlead about one mile West of West Brownsville.

On the eastern end of the bridge there will be no changes in the present 1,000-foot stretch of four-lane highway on Brownsville Hill. Route 40 will then follow the old West Penn street car line to a point two miles east of Brownsville and will connect with existing Route 40 in the vicinity of the VA dairy bar.

The bridge and roadway will

County Authority in Somerset Expansion

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—The Municipal Authority of Westmoreland County has been authorized to extend its activities outside the county.

The authorization, granted Friday by the county commissioners, is a preliminary step in plans for a dam and aqueduct near Confluence in Somerset County.

The idea for the project was developed by John H. Ware, of Philadelphia, head of the American Water Works and the management company which operates the Westmoreland County Municipal Authority.

Ware proposed a dam of 151 billion gallons capacity, filled by water from three streams.

The aqueduct would start at the Castleman River, tunnel through a mountain to Laurel Hill Creek and through another mountain to IndianCreek.

The water collected would then flow by gravity to the dam.

The authority already has water rights in the area.

Estimated cost of the aqueduct would be $500 a foot. The cost of the aqueduct and dam is estimated at $200 million.

The project's backers feel the dam is necessary to further industrial expansion. They point out the county's industry has doubled during the past five years and is expected to double again in the next five years.

Recently, Ware purchased the Mountain Water Supply Co. from the Pennsylvania Railroad to help meet demands for water.

The Confluence area has a dam, operated by the Corps of Engineers, but it is solely for flood control purposes.

If the proposed dam is built, the project's backers said the Municipal Authority ould be in a position to supply water to Allegheny and Fayette counties.

Public Library Fund Drive Is Started Here

Residents of Belle Vernon yesterday received at their homes a request for support for the Belle Vernon Public Library. Pamphlets delivered by Boy Scouts contained vital statistics concerning the library and a plea for aid in raising the $1500 total needed to conduct library activities this year.

In comparing the Belle Vernon Library report to the American Library Association standard it was reported that locally there are 500 adults registered as borrowers, 1500 children registered as borrowers, a circulation of 3,350 books annually among adults and a circulation of 9,218 books per year among children.

A book collection of 6000 is standard in the American Library Association and that is the number of the local collection. Seventy five percent of the local circulation is among children, though the Library has made its services available to 12,000 area residents.

The Memorial Book shelf is one of the outstanding features in the Belle Vernon Library and it has added considerably to the scope of available reading material.

On Feb. 12, a volunteer worker will visit every local home to receive individual contributions.

Girl Scouts in Banquet Plans Here Thursday

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 44 of Fairhope met on Thursday at the Marion Presbyterian Church in regular session with the president, Phyllis Superinsky, in charge.

After opening ceremonies the secretary, Carol Serwinsky, read the minutes and treasurer, Louise Waite, collected dues. The camp funds were collected by Judy Paholsky.

Girls brought in their project for badge work.

Further plans were discussed for the Mother-Daughter banquet to be held for the Triad Girl Scouts and Brownies on Feb. 28, at Twin Coaches. Dinner will be served at 6:30 and it will be $1.75 per plate.

This troop will begin work on table decorations for the banquet at the next meeting.

Mrs. Helen Serwinski and Yvonne Waite were the leaders in the absence of Mrs. Peg DePaolo, who is ill.

District Persons Visit Tampa Club

The Monongahela Club in Tampa, Fla. had several district peoples as guests at a meeting held on Jan. 28.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Metz, of Charleroi; Mr. and Mrs. John Parry, of Belle Vernon; James Bradley, of Fayette City; Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Maxwell, of Allenport; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bradley, of Monongahela; Mary Weddell, of Monongahela; Mrs. Jack Long, of Pittsburgh and the Rev. George Bayha, of Indiana, Pa.

The club membership includes a number of Belle Vernon people and Lou Dayner, formerly of Belle Vernon, is president. The club will convene again on Feb. 18.

Marion Missionary Society Hears Program for the Year

The Ladies Missionary Society of the Marion Presbyterian Church met on Wednesday evening in the church social rooms with the president, Mrs. Thompson Kirby, in charge.

Mrs. Kirby spoke briefly emphasizing the theme for the year's study, "Christ's Way—Every Day."

The devotional leader was Mrs. Carl Russell, who reviewed a chapter of the study book for the year, "Jesus' Teachings on Citizenship." The chapter reviewed was titled, "A Christian's Responsibility." Mrs. George Guest was topic leader and her subject was "In This New Year." She was assisted by Mrs. Thomas Dent, who gave the early history of women's organizations in the church.

Mrs. Kirby outlined the program for the year. Mrs. James Todd read a letter acknowledging the receipt of Christmas boxes sent to Morris Fork, Ky., Mrs. Ross Crago read a similar letter from Flintville, Tenn., Mrs. Dent from Big Lick Church at Crossville, Tenn., Mrs. Robert Hammer from Charleston, S. C. and Mrs. Crago for the CARE donation to Hungarian Relief.

Mrs. Thomas Liptrot read the "Yearbook of Prayer" and offered prayer for missionaries abroad.

Mrs. Kirby presented last year's financial report during the business session. Routine matters were also discussed.

Hostesses were Mrs. Howard Jones and Mrs. Russell Cope, Sr. and they served luncheon during the social hour.

This group will take part in the World Day of Prayer observance by having a service in the church and further plans will be announced for this missionary program.

Five hundred was played and those winning high score awards were Mrs. Sadie Isaho, Mrs. Helen Shepler and Mrs. Louise Nichols. Mrs. Nichols was present as a guest.

Mrs. Wendel won the floating prize.

Luncheon was served at a table centered with a large birthday cake which was cut and served in honor of four members, Mrs. Isaho, Mrs. Stella Lidgate, Mrs. Eliza Ackinclose and Mrs. Thelma Sellman.

Mrs. Lidgate, of Monessen, will be the next hostess.

Edward Kuhn Is Graduated

Edward G. Kuhn, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kuhn, of 209 Wood street, Belle Vernon, was graduated from Duquesne University School of Music at midterm and at a ceremony held at the school was commissioned a second lieutenant.

He has completed his four years of Reserve Officers Training Corp and has been instructed to report to Fort Knox, Ky. on June 21 1957. He will attend Armor School. Kuhn, who is known professionally as Ted, operates his own dance band. He has accepted a position as instrumental and vocal music instructor at Etna High School for this semester.

Mother's March Collects $577

The Mother's March in North Belle Vernon boosted the total collections for the March of Dimes to date to $577.62 according to the chairman, Mrs. Margaret Boston. The amount of $338.33 was collected by the women of the community during their house to house visitations on Thursday night.

Mrs. Boston received $66 from a collection at St. Sebastian Church; $25.07 from Bellmar High School and $80.21 from the North Belle Vernon elementary school. The remainder was received from individual donations.

Contributions will be received until Feb. 16, when the final March of Dimes report is made.

The Triad Neighborhood committee women of Washington Township, Lynnwood and Jefferson Township Girl Scouts will meet Monday evening at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Hutchison, of Gillespie.

Mrs. James DePaolo, who has been ill this past week with influenza, is reportedly getting along nicely at her home at present.

Among local college students, who are home on mid-term vacations are Jack Lange and Bob Githens, both from Pennsylvania State University.

Six More Weeks of Winter Is Forecast

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (UP)—The famed Punxsutawney groundhog, nature's "believe it or not" weather prophet, forecast six more weeks of wintry weather today.

Reports from the scene atop snow-covered Gobbler's Knob said the furry seer waddled from his winter burrow at exactly 7:47 a.m. EST, and saw his shadow which scared him right back into his hole.

Believers in the legendary forecasting powers of the Punxsutawney groundhog know that if he sees his shadow on Feb. 2 winter is far from over. If there is no shadow, spring is around the corner.

Top - hatted members of the Punxsutawney Groundhog Club, shivering from their early morning trek up snow-covered Canoe Ridge, reported their woodchuck's momentary appearance.

"The poor little guy seemed frightened to death," Sid Carlton, one of Punxsutawney's leading citizens and editor of its daily newspaper, said. "It was only a little shadow . . . why, I could hardly see it on the snow. But he saw it right away."

Hoping for a break in this winter's series of cold waves, the Punxsutawney faithful were plainly disappointed.

The groundhog tradition is almost a religion in this small Western Pennsylvania town, nestled snugly in the foothills of the Allegheny Mountains about 60 miles northeast of Pittsburgh.

Each Feb. 2—Groundhog Day—is the date for an annual celebration when a community "man-of-the-year" is selected and two Punxsutawney High School seniors are crowned king and queen of the festivities.

Claim To Fame

The day is Punxsutawney's yearly claim to national fame—the reason why residents blithely ignore scientific scoffers of their patron saint's forecasting ability.

Even Henry Rockwood, chief forecaster at the U.S. Weather Bureau in Pittsburgh, declined to dispute the groundhog's prediction.

"Give him all the credit — I'm not going to say a word against him this year," Rockwood exclaimed.

Punxsutawney groundhog Club members claim their pet never has been wrong in 58 previous annual predictions. They choose to ignore the claims of rival groundhog clubs, such as those at Quarryville, Pa., and Sun Prairie, Iowa.

Stratojet Crew Sought in Ocean Near Gloucester

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (UP)—The Air Force and Coast Guard today searched for the four-man crew of a B47 Stratojet which exploded "like an atomic bomb" nine miles off this fishing port Friday night.

Fishermen in the area reported seeing a "ball of flames" which plunged into the water at about 6:45 p. m., the time that Portsmouth, N.H. Air Force base lost contact with the six-engine jet bomber.

The crew members were identified as Capt. Orrin Snyder, of Hampton, N.H., formerly of Memphis, Tenn.; Alex A Wawrzyniak, Jr. of Portsmouth, N.H., formerly of Braddock, Pa.; Lt. Stanley D Jenkins Jr. of Hamoton, N.H., formerly of Pendleton, Ore. and Lt Stanley Patridge, 26 of Cleveland

Six Expelled From Hungary For 'Activities'

NICKELSDORF, Austria (UP)—Hungary is expelling one American, four British and a Norwegian student today because of their "illegal activities" in connection with the Hungarian revolution, a report from Budapest disclosed.

United Press Correspondent Charles Ridley telephoned from Budapest that American student Richard Roraback, 26, of Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., was believed traveling in the same police convoy with the five other Westerners to the border village of Hegyeshalom opposite here.

They were expected to be turned over to Western diplomats at 1 p.m. (7 a.m. EST).

Roraback was found guilty of illegal border crossing and of helping to smuggle Hungarians out of the country. Hungarian officials said he had confessed his guilt and repented his deeds and was being sent out of the country.

The four Britons all charged with "espionage", were Judith Cripps, granddaughter of former Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps, Oxford students Roger Cooper, 20; Christopher Lord, 21, and his brother, Basil, 25.

Red Artillery Hits Island of Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (UP)—Communist artillery shelled the Nationalist held offshore island of Quemoy Friday for the second straight day, it was reported today.

Red batteries on Tateng, an islet adjacent to Amoy, fired 10 rounds on Quemoy, but failed to inflict any damage or casualties, a Central News Agency dispatch said

Elizabeth Taylor, Mike Todd in Third Wedding

PUERTO MARQUES, Mexico (UP)— Actress Elizabeth Taylor and producer Mike Todd planned to marry at dusk today in civil and Jewish religious ceremonies in this Mexican village near Acapulco.

It will be the third wedding for both. Miss Taylor obtained a Mexican divorce Wednesday from British actor Michael Wilding.

Miss Taylor said the wedding would be a "quiet family" ceremony with "only eight or ten guests including my family" invited to the ceremonies at the home of Enrique Parra, Mexican fiance of actress Maureen O'Hara.

Todd, the son of a rabbi, said the civil ceremony would take place at 5 p.m. EST, to be followed half an hour later by the Jewish religious wedding.

Singer Eddie Fisher will be the best man and his wife, Debbie Reynolds, will be the matron of honor.

Rescue Crews Win Battle to Reach Trainmen

CHAMA, N.M. (UP) — Army crews and a helicopter pilot won a hard-fought battle against nature late Friday by rescuing the remaining trainmen marooned for almost a week on towering, snow-capped Cumbres Pass in the southern Colorado rockies.

Wide-tracked weasel snow vehicles brought down 27 of the stranded train crewmen, raising their total for the two-day rescue operation to 33. A helicopter, piloted by Capt. Robert Knowles, rescued 25 — 20 of them in shuttle flights Friday.

Two of the men, T. D. Smith, 40, and Al Tafoya, 35, of Chama, got so "fed up" with waiting to be rescued that they walked 13 miles down the snow-banked pass to Chama.

Twenty of the 60 snowbound railroaders became stranded Saturday atop the 10,022-foot pass. The other 40 were sent aboard two separate trains to rescue them but they became snowlocked by 20-foot drifts and slides at Coxo Station, some two miles short of their destination.

All 60 of the stranded trainmen had ample food and warm quarters during their forced stay atop the pass.

More Heat for Less Money with New G-E Automatic Gas Furnace

If you are interested in getting more heat for less money in your home — and, of course, you are — then it would assuredly pay you to get in touch with the Monessen Heating & Roofing firm, 409 Schoonmaker avenue, Phone MU. 4-7049, and let them tell you about the great new General Electric automatic gas furnace which they sell and install.

There's a G-E automatic gas furnace for every type of home — old or new — with or without basement. If you are replacing an out-of-date furnace but have a satisfactory duct system, the G-E Gas Furnace can be "tied right in". If you need a complete new system for your home, ask about G-E's Air-Wall System. It's the best complete system for distributing conditioned air in every room of your house.

G-E Air-Wall System is a complete, G-E engineered method of distributing warmed air in winter and cooled air in summer with a single system of ducts and registers. If you start with a G-E Furnace, Air-Wall System can be designed to handle summer cooling too, when you're ready for it.

Space-saving Air-Wall ducts (4" inch diam.) take the place of bulky ducts that normally steal basement headroom. In basementless homes, these ducts save space in slab floors, crawl space, closets, attic. On all-new construction they offer real planning freedom and economy!

Unique Air-Wall registers give you balanced heating. It's as though you were to hang "blankets of heat" on the inside of all walls enclosing your home to stop cold wherever it tries to get in. Cold can't slide down walls and over floors, creating "Artic Circles" near doors and windows. No "Igloo Walls" to chill you; Air-Wall registerss end the heat upwards, warming walls to they actually radiate heat. No cold feet while the rest of you roasts! Counteracts consensation, frost and window-steaming, too.

Backed by the reputation of General Electric — and a written warranty goes with every G-E furnace.

For three-quarters of a century, General Electric has meant dependability . . . in the home as in industry. Proud of its reputation, G. E. guards it zealously, whatever the product.

Every G-E Furnace is the result of advanced research, design, engineering and manufacturing, all by General Electric — your assurance of long years of abundant "heat without work," and real fuel economy.

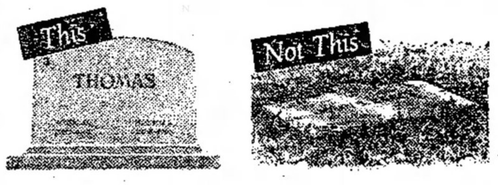
9 Out of 10 Families Prefer



9 out of 10 families appreciate proper memorialization and prefer to follow the traditional American custom of erecting a fitting monument of granite or marble to honor loved ones.

Thoughtful families select their memorials in advance of need so that those remaining are not forced to make a hasty decision at a time when sorrow makes clear thinking difficult.

May we suggest that you seek our advice and counsel now.

THE MEASURE OF CIVILIZATION

Some folks judge civilization's progress by the kind of houses they live in.

Others point toward the giant strides of science or industry—or the striking advance of music, art and literature.

Yet civilization is perhaps best measured by the kind of people it produces.

Picture a man who respects the dignity and rights of others, and who looks with compassion on human suffering. He is guided in all things by an abiding love for God. His moral stamina never ebbs. His spiritual courage grows stronger.

Multiply this man by the thousands . . . by the millions . . . and you'll see a civilization higher and greater than has ever existed.

The Church is the one great institution that devotes itself to the development of man's character and spirit. As long as it continues to thrive, we can expect our civilization to flourish and progress. Help extend the influence of the Church—give it your support, make it a part of your life!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Legislature to Hear Leader's Budget

Governor's Message On Tuesday

HARRISBURG (UP)—A dollar-conscious and tax-wary General Assembly reconvenes next week to hear Gov. George M. Leader's budget proposals to underwrite the last two years of his term.

The legislators will gather in joint session Tuesday to receive the budget message which is expected to total a record $2-billion, the largest in Commonwealth history. Gov. Leader's budget request for 1955-57 set the previous record of $1.8-billion.

Leader has given no indication whether he will follow up his 1957-59 budget with a tax plan to finance it. A special bipartisan committee has recommended a $250,000,000 tax package featuring retention of the 3 per cent sales tax with fewer exemptions, but the governor has not voiced an opinion on the recommendation.

The fiscal blueprint will come under careful scrutiny in both chambers of the Republican dominated Legislature. In the tax-writing branch. House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) said the chamber's Appropriations Committee should have whittled the budget down to size by the end of March after it has "determined what the state's rock bottom needs are."

"We'll write a revenue program to fit the cloth as we choose to cut it," Johnson said indicating Leader's program for improvement and expansion of state services faced some formidable roadblocks.

Outlined Some Needs

Last month, in his "State of the Commonwealth" report, Leader indicated several areas of increased spending which will be reflected in the budget requests. They included:

1. Expanded mental health facilities.
2. Continued financial support of his industrial development program.
3. "Substantial new appropriations" for public school construction
4. Increased appropriations to the Health Department.
5. Allocate additional money to widen the scope of welfare services to fight juvenile delinquency, educate handicapped children and study employment problems of the aged.

Legislative leaders from both political parties have indicated they will favor retaining the 3 per cent sales tax but have hedged on proposed tightening of exemptions and the soft drink and cigaret tax. The present sales tax automatically drops to 2 per cent on June 1 unless the lawmakers pass an amendment.

The tax package recommended by the special study committee contains four touchy proposals: a one cent a bottle "pop" tax, retention of the extra penny "flood tax" levied against cigarets, tax liquor and beer sold for on-premises consumption, and stringent tightening of present sales tax exemptions.

The recommendations were based on the assumption the Commonwealth would be $79,000,000 in the red at the end of the current biennium June 1; would need a "minimum" budget equal to that of 1955-57 plus the increased expenditures mandated for 1957-59 by existing law.

The Senate will reconvene at 3 p.m. next Monday and the House at 4 30 p.m.

Sentenced for Canasta Robbery

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A third defendant was sentenced to prison Friday for a $1,000 armed robbery which broke up a women's canasta game in a Duquesne home.

William T. Bell, Pittsburgh, was sentenced to five to 10 years in Western Penitentiary for his part in the robbery at the home of Mrs. Betty Silberman, 825 Liberty Rd., Duquesne. Mrs. Silberman and a few women friends were playing canasta when three men walked in with guns.

Bell was convicted along with William Stone, 26, Clairton, who is serving a 7½ to 15 year term, and Robert Mims, 35, McKeesport, who is serving a term of 10 to 20 years.

eliminate the dangerous hill in Brownsville, now a part of Route 40, which has been the site of numerous truck runaways and fatalities.

Under the proposal all traffic in Brownsville moving out of the downtown business district will move one-way east up the hill. Westbound traffic coming down the hill will leave Market street at Third avenue, swing down a long ramp behind the Kisinger and Skirpan funeral homes, pass under the bridge and tie into Market street below what is known as the North Bend.

Ex-McKees Rocks Police Chief Is Cleared of Charges

PITTSBURGH (UP— Nicholas Antonelli, former McKees Rocks police chief indicted in a 1950 grand jury investigation of vice and rackets, has been cleared of charges of faudulent conversion and misdemeanor in office.

Judges John J. Kennedy and Loran L. Lewis and visiting Judge Fred W. Davis of Monroe and Pike counties ruled Friday that Antonelli's constitutional right to due process of law had been violated.

Antonelli, demoted by Burgess David Hershman, claimed in his appeal the grand jury was swayed unduly by state prosecutors.

The misdemeanor charges the former police chief for alleged failure to enforce the law in respect to vice and gambling. The fraudulent conversion count alleged he converted part of a $8,000 police and firemen's pension fund to his own use.

of a twin-engined Convair which whipped around during a landing at Laguardia in 1953. Three of his passengers were hurt, but none seriously.

The crash Friday night was the first accident in which any passenger was killed in Northeast Airlines' history.

The CAB sent two investigators from Washington to aid three CAB representatives from the New York office for an on-the-spot investigation of the crash.

The plane had been held up since 2:45 p.m. EST by a swirling snowstorm that snarled airline traffic. It finally was cleared for takeoff and headed down the runway at almost exactly 6 p.m. It was due in Miami about five hours later.

A CAA spokesman at LaGuardia said that flying conditions at the time of takeoff were "well above the minimum."

Miss Virchow said the flight was to have been one of her last because she was planning to get married.

"If I ever get over this," she said, "I'll stick to marriage."

World War I Vets Attend Convention

Two officers of Mon Valley Barracks 350, World War I Veterans, are attending the national convention being held today in Washington, D. C.

Attending are Louis Roth, commander, and Louis Alterici, senior vice-commander.

One of the major issues on the convention agenda to be discussed is the legislative program through which the organization hopes to seek congressional aid in providing a $100 monthly pension to each honorably discharged World War I veteran.

Disaster Teams Rushed to Areas Left by Rampaging Floodwaters

Floodwaters that rampaged through nine southern states, killing 15 persons, causing damage in the billions and leaving thousands homeless ebbed today under clear skies and a vast man-made barrier against uncontrolled waters.

Rains that sent muddy rivers spilling over their banks in the Appalachians and started swollen headwaters menacingly southward ceased over most of the flooded area and the raging waters were systematically diverted into non-danger areas by the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Disaster teams rushed into the silt-covered areas of Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia where the waters dealt the cruelest blows, but farther south in Tennessee, flood control experts worked to avoid more suffering and property damage.

Dams in the vast TVA system, built years ago to minimize flood damage in the valley spillway, successfully diverted the waters from swollen rivers into tributaries and lakes with a minimum of flooding.

As the flood waters backed away from the devastation farther north, it appeared that Kentucky was hardest hit. Kentucky Gov. A. B. Chandler estimated damage at $1 billion and said as many as 10,000 families were left temporarily homeless by the high waters.

Chandler ordered National Guardsmen into Floyd County to prevent looting in the valley towns stricken by the floods and asked the Civil Defense Administration for $500,000 to use in a clean-up campaign in the mud-covered communities.

The Army announced that all cities cut off by the high waters had received emergency supplies and teams of relief workers, doctors and nurses rushed to the stricken areas.

At least 15 persons were dead as a result of the floods. Kentucky counted seven fatalities, West Virginia and Virginia three each and one death was reported in Alabama and another in Tennessee.

The weatherman promised at least temporary relief. The forecast for today was for clear skies and no rain over the flooded area with the front moving across South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi. However, there was a threat of more rain in the stricken areas late Saturday night or Sunday and it was feared that more rain might spill the mighty Ohio River from its banks and cause still more flood damage.

Wilson, Wife with Ike on Trip South

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Wilson's wife flew to Augusta, Ga., today aboard the Columbine III.

The President was enroute for a week-end of golf and relaxation at the Augusta National Golf Club.

Wilson, under heavy fire for his charge that the National Guard had been a "draft dodging business", declined to say why he was accompanying the President except:

"I was invited along."

Guardsmen, congressmen, state governors and others have demanded that Wilson resign because of his remark — one that Mr. Eisenhower, himself, had described as "very unwise."

Asked if he would talk business with the President on the two-hour flight to Augusta, Wilson replied:

"I always talk business."

Mrs. Wilson, who only the other day said the President was "unfair" to the secretary, smiled and said nothing.

The Wilsons are enroute to Florida for a two-week vacation. They originally were scheduled to fly to Miami Beach directly in another plane.

The secretary said he and his wife will continue on to Florida aboard the Columbine this afternoon.

The President plans to return here Sunday afternoon.

Wilson Friday night issued a statement intended to calm the storm which broke over his head as a result of his "draft-dodging" statement about the politically powerful National Guard.

He said he never intended any reflection on individual Guard members but only wished to draw attention to its "low standard" of training and readiness.

He did not, however, back down from his charge that some young men were able to duck active military duty during the Korean War by joining the Guard.

But he added that "it is not difficult to realize, without questioning his (the Guardsman's) motives, the attitude which this developed in the minds of many parents whose sons had gone off to fight in Korea."

Maj. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh, president of the National Guard Association, declined direct comment on Wilson's new statement. He had labeled the secretary's original charge a "damned lie."

Walsh said he would hold his fire until he appears at a House armed services subcommittee hearing next week. He said "we will state our case then and reply fully to Mr. Wilson's unfounded charges."

tribute troops to UNEF. An American spokesman expressed confidence the resolution would pass.

Other diplomats were less certain. A British spokesman said his delegation awaited "with interest any interpretations that may be placed on the resolutions by their sponsors or by others."

The United States helped sponsor two resolutions. The second recognizes that Israel's withdrawal "must be followed by action which would assure progress towards the creation of peaceful conditions." This gives Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold the task of setting up machinery to keep the peace.

The assembly scheduled two sessions for today, and planned on an all-day session Sunday if necessary to reach a vote. The assembly hopes to adjourn Feb. 23.

OBITUARIES

MRS. ELLA POWELL

Mrs. Ella Powell, aged 74, of Perryopolis, died Friday, Feb. 1, 1957, at 7 p. m. in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Mildred Pore, of Fayette City.

Man Struck by Auto at Derry

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — James Shaffer, 47, Derry RD 1, was injured critically late Friday when he was struck by an automobile on Route 981 at Derry.

He was taken to Latrobe Hospital.

Police identified the driver of the car as Mildred S. Demine, 712 St. Clair St., Latrobe.

Robbers Get $77,000 In Series of Thefts

By UNITED PRESS

Three banks, a factory and a coal mine in four states were victimized by robbers who looted them of more than $77,000.

A pair that pillaged the Oran, Iowa Savings Bank were nabbed just 20 minutes after they left the bank with $5,000. A third gunman and his loot were seized by police after he robbed the First National Bank of Mount Gilead, Ohio, of $14,500.

Police intensified a manhunt for bandits who heisted $31,534 from the credit union office of the Libby-Owens-Ford plants in Toledo, Ohio; a $25,000 payroll from the Pocahontas Fuel Co. at Covel, W. Va., and $1,681 from the Elsie State Savings Bank, at Elsie, Mich.

The boldest stickup was performed by a quartet of "nervous" robbers at the Toledo plant 20 minutes after an armored car delivered a sack of currency there.

"Where is that hot bundle that Brinks delivered just now?" they demanded. All the paper money in sight was scooped into a trash basket by the men, and eight employes and some three customers were hustled into a back room.

Donald Butch, 25, Mansfield, Ohio, was held for the Mount Gilead bank robbery. He was snared as he creeped from a barn where he had been hiding.

The Iowa bandits were rounded up by a highway policeman who stopped them and spied the loot-stuffed satchel perched on the back seat.

Robert Street, 30, and Leslie Johnson, 40, both from Olwein, Iowa, admitted plotting the stickup because they needed the money to pay their rent and family food bills.

NEW PRESIDENT — Adm. Charles R. Khoury is new president of Pittsburgh Steamship lines. He assumes his new post March 1. Pittsburgh Steamship is a division of U. S. Steel.

Alberts Loses Fight To Kill Indictments

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Fred B. Alberts, justice of the peace at White Oak, near McKeesport, has lost his fight to quash indictments charging him with misdemeanor in office and extortion.

Criminal Court Judges John J. Kennedy, Loren L. Lewis and Fred W. Davis refused after a hearing Friday to throw out the indictments. Davis is a visiting judge from Monroe and Pike counties.

The indictments accused Alberts on five charges of misdemeanor in office and eight of extortion.

Clairton Doctor Who Killed Wife, Son in Fairview

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Dr. Jay H. Mervis, 51, of Clairton, accused of slaying his wife and son with an ax, was committed late Friday to the Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Fairview.

Judge John J. Kennedy ordered the commitment after two psychiatrists testified the Glassport dentist is potentially dangerous to himself and society.

The psychiatrists, Dr. R. J. Hudon and Dr. Raymond L. Rau, members of the staff of St. Francis General Hospital here, said Mervis suffered from a psychotic condition and was mentally incapable of standing trial.

Dr. Rodney H. Keifer, Behavior Clinic psychiatrist, agreed with their findings.

Mervis' wife, Fannie, 51, and his son, Michael, 17, were killed in their Clairton home last Nov. 24. Mervis was found in the house with his wrists slashed.

Aides Work on Details Of Saudi Arabian Aid

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower and King Saud today parted temporarily leaving their aides to work out a program of American military and economic aid for the king's desert kingdom.

The President and the oil-rich Saudi Arabian monarch recessed their talks until late next week after agreeing that they have increased the prospects of peace in the Middle East.

Informed sources said the President told the king the United States is willing to provide big-scale military and small-scale economic aid to Saudi Arabia. An arms agreement would end a long-standing U.S. policy against providing major military aid to Middle Eastern nations.

Official Draft Plan

American and Saudi Arabian officials will work on the necessary agreements during the next few days. The President and king planned to meet again probably Thursday or Friday to review the results of the lower-level negotiations.

Mr. Eisenhower planned to leave the capital by plane this morning for a golfing weekend at Augusta, Ga. He planned to return Sunday afternoon.

Saud headed this morning for a one-day tour of the U.S. Naval Academy at nearby Annapolis, Md. He was scheduled to address the midshipmen and attend the Navy-Duke basketball game.

Headed For Resort

He planned to return to the Capital tonight and remain throughout next week instead of going to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., for a few days rest as originally scheduled.

The President and the king toasted each other and the cause of peace in orange juice Friday night at an ornate dinner at the swank Mayflower Hotel.

The tall, bearded monarch praised U.S. policies in the Middle East and called the President "a man who is far sighted, wise-minded and worthy of every appreciation."

The Planning of A Better City

IT IS NOT HARD these days to get the impression in Monessen that the community's leaders in government and civic affairs are doing some serious and imaginative thinking about the city's future development. And it is apparent, too, that they are doing this thinking in a spirit of mutual confidence and cooperation.

Because this is precisely what The Daily Independent has been advocating for the past ten years, it is hardly necessary to say now that we heartily approve of the discussions that are taking place and the manner in which they are being conducted.

The preparation of a long-range master plan for Monessen's development was begun just a little over a year ago after the City Council reconstituted the Planning Commission and provided it with a fund of $20,000 with which to employ professional assistance. It was explained at the time that this would be a two-year program.

Therefore, since we are but at the midway point of the planning process, it would be premature to comment in any conclusive way on even those tentative proposals that are beginning to come from the Planning Commission and its consultants. Such proposals, in fact, are not yet in a form in which they can be exposed to full public view. All that is happening now is in the realm of brainstorming, a sifting of ideas and a measuring of dreams and ambitions against the practical and the possible.

* * *

EVEN SO, however, and with all of us reserving the right later to have a voice in the ultimate decisions, The Independent would like to compliment those citizens — and already there are a couple dozen of them — who are giving their time and talents with such sincere devotion to this task of planning for a better Monessen.

The City administration deserves special commendation, it seems to us, for having caught the vision. Had it not done so and were it not now following the gleam with intelligent application of the principles of good government, none of what is transpiring would have been possible. And it is to the City Hall where we must continue to look for the sustaining leadership necessary for ultimate success.

Not the least of the City government's achievements has been the enlistment of able citizens to take positions of responsibility in various phases of the program. The Planning Commission, the authorities and the quasi-official Citizens Advisory Committee — these are all playing key roles in this undertaking.

* * *

THE READER may have the impression at this point that we are enthusiastic about what is going on, and if so, he is quite right. We are most enthusiastic.

We recognize, of course, that a long road lies ahead and that a plan on paper is not the same as a completed project. And we must caution against excessive exuberance at any point along the way. The only kind of city planning that is worth anything is intensely practical and deliberate.

But it has been demonstrated many times that when a community makes up its collective mind that it is going to lick its problems and build a new future for itself, right there it has won half the battle. Monessen seems to have reached that crucial point, and from now on, while the hard work has only begun, it will consist mainly of putting the right pieces in the right places. And that, we earnestly believe, will bring out the best that is in all of us.

A Good Cause

TWO MONESSEN organizations, the Junior Woman's Club and the Parent-Teacher Association, have decided to take up the cause of fluoridation of the water which is furnished to Monessen, Charleroi and Donora.

As a first step they are arranging for a meeting to be held next month at which complete information about fluoridation will be made available to interested citizens and groups from all three communities. The hope is that public sentiment can be created which will insist that the Authority of the Borough of Charleroi, which furnishes water to the three towns, begin adding fluorides to the water.

Fluoridation is one of the greatest public health discoveries of this century. It has been demonstrated in city after city that the addition of fluorides to water which does not naturally contain them can reduce tooth cavities in children under 16 by as much as 75 per cent. Adults also have been found to benefit considerably.

So it is well that somebody here is ready to do something to give this locality the advantages of this discovery. We feel sure the Junior Woman's Club and the PTA will find increasing support among other groups and citizens as there is more understanding of fluoridation and what it can do.

McCarthy not Present for Ike Luncheon

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Few people even inside the Senate saw what happened, but Sen. Joe McCarthy boycotted President Eisenhower when Ike came up for lunch with the Senate GOP Policy Committee this week.

All Republican senators were invited into the Appriations Committee room where the luncheon was held, to say hello to their leader. A Secret Service man had a list of all senators permitted to enter. On the list was the name of Joe McCarthy. But Joe did not come.

Mr. Pearson

Carefully, he stayed on the Senate floor, then rather ostentatiously escorted two young girls from Wisconsin around Senate corridors, stopped in front of the room where the luncheon was being held, posed for photographers, and went on.

Too-neutral Hammarskjold

Diplomats who worry over the sometimes narrow pro-Nasser operations of UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold recall the remark made by that venerable crusader for peace, Trygve Lie, when he retired as Secretary General of the United Nations.

The old Norwegian lion, who had taken firm sides against the Communists in the Korean War, shook his head as if preferring not to comment. Then he said:

"He is too Swedish and too nootrel for me."

Mrs. Morse and Mrs. McKay

After ex-Secretary of Interior Doug McKay was defeated by Sen. Wayne Morse (D., Ore.) in a bitter Senate race, the McKays sadly decided to give up their Washington apartment in the Greenbriar. About that time, a woman phoned the Greenbriar Apartments, asking if they had a vacancy.

"We will have a lovely apartment available next month," promised the Greenbriar manager. "Secretary and Mrs. McKay are now living there. But if you would like to look at the apartment, I'm sure they wouldn't mind."

"No, thank you," replied the woman. "You see, I am Mrs. Morse."

Prober Returns

An interesting and amazing development has happened inside the potent Senate Judiciary Committee which indicates the power of McCarthyism even though its original author has been censured by the Senate.

Julian Sourwine, McCarthy's friend and author of the probe of the New York Times, is being taken back as top counsel of the Judiciary Committee.

Sourwine left the committee last year to run for the Senate in Nevada, where he was severely trounced in the Democratic primaries by Sen. Alan Bible. Ordinarily, senatorial courtesy either discourages or definitely forbids a man who ran against a senator from receiving reward from the Senate, or, for that matter, from the executive branch of the government.

However, Sourwine has the backing of McCarthy's friend, Senator Eastland of Mississippi, chairman of the committee, and also Senator Jenner of Indiana, another McCarthy friend.

Sourwine started the New York Times probe on his own, without any vote by the Internal Security Committee. Not even McCarthy would have taken this initiative without consulting other committee members. The probe was held shortly before Sourwine ran for the Senate in Nevada, and some senators felt that the timing was deliberate in order to help Sourwine's Senate ambitions.

Rev. Cohn. McCarthy's close friend, put up some of the money for the Nevada race. Now that the race fizzled, Sourwine is back at the Judiciary Committee about to get the top staff job.

Merry-Go-Round

When ex-GOP Chairman Len Hall was propositioned by the White House to become U. S. Ambassador to Israel in order to help his race for governor of New York, Len wisecracked: "I have a hard time going through the Bronx." . . . RCA's General Sarnoff gives this pithy diagnosis of Moscow's ills: "The great strength of Communism has been not in deeds but in slogans. The great disillusionment, begun with the Kremlin's confessions of the dead Stalin's heinous crimes, is being deepened by recent proofs that Stalin's successors are no less criminal." . . . Pierre DuPont III, treasurer of one of the biggest companies in America, is proud of being an immigrant. His family arrived in the 1700's. He's now heading the American Museum of Immigration to establish a national shrine at the foot of the Statue of Liberty. . . . Subordinates are urging the Joint Chiefs of Staff to speak out against defense cuts. If Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey can disagree with the President publicly, they argue, then the Joint Chiefs ought to be allowed the same privilege.

Problem Boy

Today and Tomorrow—

Concerning Official Visits

By WALTER LIPPMANN

For reasons of high policy, the President invited King Saud to visit Washington. For the same kind of reason he would like to invite President Tito. But the Mayor of New York City who, according to the routine, is the first to receive and greet foreign dignitaries when they land in this country, has refused to greet King Saud and he has announced that he will not greet President Tito.

Mr. Lippmann

The State Department has dealt with this problem by taking over from the City of New York the business of receiving and greeting foreign dignitaries. As far as it goes, this is the sensible and indeed the only thing to do. For there is no doubt that the Mayor of the City of New York cannot be allowed to decide how cordial or how frigid shall be the first reception to foreigners whom the President has decided to invite to this country.

But to say this does not dispose of the problem which is posed when for reasons of policy the administration wishes to invite a visitor who is not popular in this country. How, we may ask ourselves, did the State Department ever get itself into the position where it could be embarrassed by the Mayor of New York City? The answer is, I think, that there is a custom now taken too easily for granted, which originated in our age of innocence, in the time now long past, when our visitors all came from countries with which our people had a natural and spontaneous sympathy.

Only Friends Invited

The existing routine grew up during the first World War when our important visitors were by definition, at least in the Eastern cities, popular figures. No one else was invited. And of course no one else came. It could be taken for granted that the visitors would have a popular ovation in New York before they went on to Washington to transact official business.

Thus a popular ovation became, so to speak, a requirement in an official visit by a high dignitary. We can see how true this is in the case of President Tito, who is saying that he will not come to Washington at all if he does not receive the full conventional public treatment. He will feel that he is badly treated if his visit is limited to a few days in Washington and is not accompanied by a popular reception.

This is embarrassing to the State Department. But the department is responsible for creating the feeling that a visit is less than a visit if it is not also a great demonstration of affection and good will. Beginning with the first World War, the notion has gradually taken root over here that these visits do not merely register good will that already exists but that they can be used to create good will in almost any country.

A visit, it has come to be thought, could be used to impress even the most skeptical of the great men of the outer world with the might and with the friendliness of our people. A ritual was thus designed for the treatment of dignitaries whose good will was to be won. There are variants. But almost always the ritual has begun with a kind of triumphal ride up lower Broadway to City Hall during which the visitor receives his popular ovation.

Dubious Ritual

There is no way to measure how successful is the ritual. But it would be fair to say that among dignitaries from the uncommitted nations of Asia and of Africa, its success has been very modest indeed. Some of these dignitaries have been unfavorably impressed by the excesses of the effort to impress them.

A dubious feature of those visits, as they have come to be organized, is that one visit gets itself compared with another, often on the basis of how big and how demonstrative are the crowds, rather like a popularity rating in the television industry.

This brings us back to Mayor Wagner. According to the ritual, if the President invites King Saud or President Tito, Mayor Wagner is supposed to produce a popular ovation for them on lower Broadway. But, as we are now seeing, this ritual will not work for visitors against whom there is strong popular feeling in this country.

The cure for this embarrassment is not to call off the visits. The cure is to get rid of the idea that an official visit is also an occasion for propaganda and for a popular demonstration. There is no use pretending that everybody we have to deal with in the outer world is naturally beloved by the American people or that he is prepared to be made to fall in love with us.

Official visits should be treated as official visits, and on the strict understanding that their purpose is official business — with the popular demonstrations, if any, entirely incidental and indeed unorganized.

Earnest Young Man Interested in Politics

By HARRY R. PORE, Jr.

A very earnest young man was in my office the other day seeking, of all things, political advice. Obviously the fellow knows nothing about politics or he would know that a newspaper editor couldn't be very helpful to him.

No doubt there are exceptions to this. Somewhere there must be an editor or two who knows his way around in the political game, at least enough to be able to advise a neophyte how to get started. And all editors take more or less of an interest in politics as part of the routine of their jobs. Politics is news.

But by and large I think it's true that when it comes to the intensely practical business of getting a voter to the polls and having him put his "X" in the "right" place, your average newspaper editor is not very sharp.

Nevertheless I listened with a great deal of interest to this earnest young man seeking political advice. I consider myself a first-rate listener, and also I am one who thinks we need a lot more earnest young men in politics.

My visitor started with a question:

"Do you think there is any chance for a young fellow like me to get into politics in a town like this?"

"Well," I said, "that probably depends on what kind of young fellow you are and what kind of town you think this is. Tell me more."

Good War Record

"O. K.," said he. "I'm just over 30. I served in the Army during World War II — in both the European and Pacific theatres and I have what I think is a good war record.

"After the war I went into business for myself and I've made a success of it. I have a young family and I make a better-than-average living for them. So I must know something about how to handle money and how to get along with people.

"I was born and raised here, and I think a lot of Monessen. I'll probably spend the rest of my life here, and I think I would like to contribute something to Monessen by being a public official."

"Well," said I again (and that's a very useful word for a listener), "it sounds as though you have some good qualifications, and your motives seem alright, too. Why don't you go ahead and run for something?"

"I think I will," he replied, "but I'd just like to know what you think of my chances."

"Sorry," I said, "but I gave up picking winners in 1936. I was pretty sure Alf Landon was going to beat Roosevelt."

"That's not exactly what I mean," the young man insisted. "I want to know what you think the people of this town want in the way of government.

"Do you think they would vote for a clean young fellow who has made a success of his business, who has fought for his country, who has a mind of his own, who won't take orders and who won't be afraid to ask some questions now and then? Would they or wouldn't they?"

Hard to Tell

"Again," I said, "I can't tell you who the people might vote for. I suppose it would depend on what they thought of this fellow as compared with the other candidates. It would depend on what kind of campaign he put on, who his supporters were, how much money he had to spend and a lot of other things."

"But," he persisted, "do you think the people here want the kind of candidates I think I would be? Don't they prefer candidates who are on some organization's ticket regardless of their motives, qualifications and records?"

"Yes," I had to admit, "I guess maybe they do, to judge by recent political history. But I'm not sure that it has to be that way and that, if the right kind of appeal were made to them, things couldn't be changed a bit."

"That's what I wanted you to say," he said. "I think I'll give it a whirl. I'll bring in my announcement next week."

He thanked me and went out of the office.

Spring Already Staging Some 'Sneak' Previews

By JOHN H. DAY

If you know the right people you can wangle an invitation to a "sneak" preview of a coming cinema attraction. This is strictly a publicity gimmick. The disc jockeys have muscled in on the idea, proclaiming previews of the uncouth monstrosities they have the gall to represent as real music. In any department store milady can now preview the finery she'll wear in the Easter parade. All this previewing is calculated to fire up the buying urge and probably does just that.

I did a little previewing myself during the weekend. This "sneak" showing was staged by Ma Nature against the setting of the cold, dark January woodlands. On parade were the first signs of spring and they fired up in me a tremendous urge for the first warm April showers which will break for good the winter's bondage. Visible and tangible indeed are these preview "signs". I brought them home from the woods in my hands.

Actually these first signs of spring were first put together last summer, when the trees of the woodland set the buds which package the makings of flower and leaf and fruit. You can really preview the spring prophecies in September, but it warms your heart better to view this first showing in January, when all the woods are caught in winter's icy grip and the miracle of yet another springtide wrapped in their right bud scales is wonderful indeed.

The Beech Bud

In my collection was a twig from a beech which stands in a colony of these gray patriarchs on the timbered hillside. These are distinctive buds, long and slender, cinnamon-colores and silky, shaped like a shoemaker's awl. This package is done up tightly and skillfully, defying clumsy fingers to undo it without wrecking it. Layer after layer protect the heart of this bud, which is the softest of vegetable silk.

I brought along a sample twig from a sassafras tree which had added interest by hanging a spice-bush moth cocoon in a terminal fork. These were terminal buds the size of a pea, each of them green as are the sassafras twigs all winter long, and each with just a blush of reddish-purple coloring. Countrymen everywhere know and love the sassafras. For tasty nibbling purposes during a ramble through the countryside these aromatic twigs have no peer.

The pawpaw takes no chances. The buds of this small tree wear a fur coat to get through the cold weather, so that the peculiar-tasting fruits may hang fat and sassy in the October thickets. The Hoosier poet like the "custard apples" of this shrubby tree, and described them as custard pie without a crust. Personally I can do without them. They taste just like the Mayapple, and my taste buds recoil in horror at the very throught of sampling them.

The spicebush twig is set with brown globular buds the size of pinheads. These are flower buds, since the spicebush is one of our earliest bloomers and makes its plans accordingly. The tulip poplar shows well developed, shapely buds. The outer coverings conceal a mass of woolly fibres, fine and soft, within which the tender blossoms lie in perfect miniature, ready for tht signal guns of May-day. Already, though winter is hardly more than a month old, the soft "kittens" on the willow stems have begun to push off the dark coverlids.

Brooks Are Busy

The woods brooks were busily at work, chattering gaily as they shouldered their way down and out of the timbered draws to the quiet valley below. The limpid water pushed through ice jams at the small cascades and raced down narrow causeways whose edgings the frost king had candied with purest rock crystal. Heroic augers of skunk cabbage pushed up through the frozen litter in a small swale, to give me yet another preview of the greening days that lie ahead.

On the way out to the car I passed a wild cherry sapling which held an even dozen of the snug, weather-proof cocoons of the gorgeous promethea moth. Even as the tight-wrapped buds offer a preview of the exciting days not too far ahead, so these winter cradles on the cherry twigs hold visible promise of the new and vibrant life now tucked away, but ready and waiting for the appointed hour.

Previewing was old stuff in the open long before money-minded promoters sensed its value. To him who has the eyes and imagination with which to see, the countryside ever reveals hints and promises of better things to come.

The John Rapsacks Mark Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Rapsack, Sr., of 755 Hoover street, who observed the golden anniversary of their marriage on Jan. 26, were honored at a surprise family gathering to mark the occasion.

It was held at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Francia, of 769 Hoover street, and was arranged by their children, Mrs. Francia, Bill, Nick and John Rapsack, Jr.

Attend Mass

The children of the couple and members of their families were all present for the celebration. They presented their mother with a corsage and their father with a lapel flower, which they wore for the festivities.

The family attended an anniversary mass at St. Mary Church in the early morning and then the couple had anniversary pictures taken. Upon their return home Mr. and Mrs. Rapsack were presented with a large bouquet of yellow rosebuds.

At 5 o'clock in the evening dinner was served for 26 at the Francia home.

Along with family members the others attending included Mr. and Mrs. William Selestak and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Selestak and daughter. William Selestak is a brother of Mrs. Rapsack.

Present Gifts

After dinner the family presented both their mother and father with a gold wedding ring and a wrist watch.

Mr. and Mrs. Rapsack were married on Jan. 26, 1907 at St. Michael Church of Passaic, N. J. In 1911 they came to Monessen to live and have been here ever since with the exception of a 10 year period.

The couple has nine grandchildren and one great grandchild.

A highlight of the anniversary party was the presence of four generations of the Rapsack family. They were John Rapsack, Sr. and his son, William, his son, William Jr. and grandson, William, III.

After dinner the remainder of the day was spent informally and the honored couple was the recipient of many greetings and gifts.

Simala-Clark Nuptials Are Announced Here

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simala, of Stockdale, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Cecilia, to Jay Clark. He is the son of Frank E. Clark, of Charleroi, R. D. 2.

The couple exchanged vows at a ceremony colemnized in Winchester, Va.

After a brief wedding trip to Cleveland, O., where they visited with the aunt of the bridegroom, Evelyn Silbaugh. Mr. Clark has left for service in the armed forces.

Valley Veterans Auxiliary to Have Meeting

The Ladies Auxiliary to Monongahela Valley Barracks 350 World War One Veterans will meet on Monday evening at the Charleroi Elks Club for an important business session at 8 o'clock.

The nomination and election of officers will be conducted and this will be the second election since the organization was formed during the past year.

Yearly dues are also payable at this time.

Mrs. Dorothy Roth, president, will be in charge and there will be a social hour after the meeting.

The Royalettes Hold Meeting At Horan Home

On Thursday evening the Royalettes were entertained at the home of Mrs. Carolyn Horan, of Rebecca street.

There was a business session, cards were played and luncheon was served.

Plans were made for the next club party to be held at the home of Mrs. Joan Allen, of McKee avenue.

The Bidders Are Entertained At Gedeons

The members of the Bidders were entertained at the home of Mrs. Betty Gedeon, of Reed avenue, recently.

Two tables of cards were in play and winning high score awards were Violet Rockovich, of Allenport, Betty Uhal and Stella Alessio.

Other awards were made to Betty Gedeon and Stella Alessio.

Rosemary Knox was present as a guest.

Luncheon was served and plans were made to meet in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Alessio.

BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. David Bowling, 1538 Schoonmaker avenue, Monessen, a daughter, six pounds, seven ounces, Jan. 31, at 6:27 a. m., at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

WED AT ST. SEBASTIAN — Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Paul Nandor exchanged their nuptial vows last Saturday morning, Jan. 26, in St. Sebastian R. C. Church of Belle Vernon. The bride was formerly Patriicia Louise Murt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murt, of Fairhope, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nandor. of North Charleroi. The Rev. Henry Hanse heard the exchange of vows at 10 a. m. The couple will reside in their own apartment in Pittsburgh, while Mr. Nandor attends the University of Pittsburgh. He served four years in the Air Force. Mrs. Nandor was formerly on the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital nursing staff.

Luncheon Meeting Planned For Woman's Club Members

A change in time has been noted in the February meeting of the Monessen Woman's Club, which will be held next Wednesday afternoon in the gymnasium of the First Methodist Church.

It will be a luncheon and will begin at one o'clock instead of the usual two o'clock hour.

The meeting will be in the form of a Holiday Covered Dish Luncheon and a special program is being planned by Mrs. Rip Menefee.

Club members are requested to bring hose and other materials for the Psychiatric Hospital.

Mrs. Donald C. Duvall, chairman of the February, March, April and May ways and means committee, has announced that her committee is arranging for a spring bridge luncheon on April 22 at the Monongahela Valley Country Club at one o'clock.

Assisting her with arrangements will be Mrs. Lily Anderson, Mrs. George Breniman, Mrs. Joseph Campus, Mrs. Thomas Copeland, Mrs. Charles Darby, Mrs. Charles Dow. Mrs. L.E. Farquhar, Mrs. R. G. Fisher, Mrs. Joseph Hagerty, Mrs. James Hutchison, Mrs. R. Arlington Johnston, Ina Kline, Mrs. T. E. Lewis, Mrs. Robert McKelvie, Sr., Mrs. Paul Yeaton, Mrs. Charles Williams, Jr., Mrs. R. E. GAPA Young Ladies Lodge Holds Election

A dinner meeting was held at the Park Casino by the G. A. P. A. Young Ladies Harmony Lodge 70 on Jan. 30. Covers were laid for 28 members at the attractively appointed table.

The president, Pauline Georgagis, presided during the business session and the election of officers for the new year highlighted the session.

Pauline Georgagis was re-elected president and others named were Callie Moundros, vice president; Ann August, secretary; Kay Mermigas, treasurer.

Elected as trustees were Esther Costas, Maria Pagonis, Mrs. Jean Drizos.

Plans were discussed for a Pre-Lenten dance to be held by the lodge on Saturday, Mar. 2, at the G. A. P. A. Hall with Mrs. Kay Drizos serving as general chairman.

The next meeting will be held in March and it will also be in the form of a dinner meeting.

District Young People Have Party at School

There were 25 members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the First Methodist Church of Charleroi in attendance at a swimming party held recently at the Junior High School swimming pool in Monessen.

The group left Charleroi at 6:30 and spent two hours at the local school, where the pool had been reserved for their use.

After the swim the entire group went to Crawford's in Rostraver Township, where they were served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Frederick, who are councilors for the Senior Group of the MYF accompanied the entire group in the absence of the counselors for the Intermediate Group, Muriel Rauscher and Donna Naccarato.

Preston to Speak to Curbstone Coaches

Thomas Preston, who has been actively associated with Monessen High School sports since 1923, will speak to the Basketball Curbstone Coaches in Charleroi next Monday at noon. At present, Preston is secretary of the Monessen Athletic Council, a position he's held since 1936 . . . Incidentally in a column earlier this week, we reported that no records are available for Monessen High basketball games prior to the 1918-19 season. Preston explains that scorebooks covering these seasons were destroyed when the high school building burned on April 10, 1946. He was able to save most records in that blaze but a few of the early books were consumed by the flames. Thus official Greyhound records go back only to the school's formal entrance into the WPIAL basketball program in 1918-19.

The poposed constitution of the newly-formed Tri County Football Conference, which includes Bellmar, "suggests" that a commissioner be appointed to assign football officials to conference games. That's certainly a step in the right direction . . . St. Vincent-Carnegie Tech football relations will be resumed before long, according to Mel Cratsley, Tech athletic director. The Tartans had to drop St. Vincent this season because of a schedule mixup. Cratsley contends that the interruption in the football series is only temporary.

Musial Picks Waner as Best Batter

And who do you suppose Stan Musial regards as the best batter he has ever seen? The Man selects Paul Waner, former Pirate great who was his idol as a youth . . . Leroy Zak, the 18-year old "fan" who caused the trouble during the recent Munhall-Duquesne basketball game, is obviously not disturbed by the whole thing. According to the McKeesport newspaper, Zak walked boldly into the Duquesne office a couple of days after the near riot and asked for two tickets to last night's McKeesport-Duquesne game. He didn't get them! . . . By the way, Munhall school authorities have proved that Zak was in no way connected with their basketball team even though he was reportedly seated in the section reserved for the Indian basketballers. He has been identified as the person who grappled with Referee Ward Murphy.

* * *

Don't look now but there's a benefit basketball game between Duquesne University and the Quantico Marines scheduled for the Pitt Field House the same night that the Harlem Globetrotters will appear at the MHS gym. However that should have little effect on the sale of tickets for the local promotion . . . Incidentally there are still lots of good seats available for the Trotter game. But don't delay much longer in making your purchase . . . Ed Santoro, who spent his early years in Monessen before becoming a football star at Uniontown High, suffered a broken cheek the past season while playing with the Fort Jackson Army team. He was "replaced" by none other than Sam Tamburello, the much-touted quarterback from Maryland who was drafted just prior to the start of the 1956 campaign.

May Cut Short City League Season

The regular season schedule of the City Basketball League runs through March 4, but actual play may end before that. City League officials plan to terminate the current campaign as soon as the top four teams are decided. At that point, the playoffs will begin immediately . . . Speaking of the City League, veteran Viaduct center Al Zyga—a Donora import—has enrolled at Mansfield State Teachers College. His departure will leave a big gap in the Viaduct roster . . . Dick Bestwick, head football coach at North Huntingdon High, has resigned to accept the grid job at Grove City High. Last season, North had a 1-7-1 record. Bestwick, a native of Sharon, directed just one Bulldog eleven.

Yankees Concerned Over Mantle's Legs

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

The New York Yankees are constantly concerned over the condition of Mickey Mantle's legs which, although he looks so robust, actually are rather brittle bric-a-brac.

The tip-off on this comes from Bill Dewitt, former assistant general manager of the Yankees.

"He always has pains in his legs after a double header," Dewitt says. "And you'd be surprised at how carefully he has to wrap his knees before a game. If the legs hold up he'll set some records in the next few years." But the "if" is always foremost in Yankee minds.

Times Have Changed

Times have changed department: Back in 1905, Syracuse defeated Williams in basketball by a 2-0 score. Just recently the Boston Celtics beat Syracuse, this time in professional basketball, by 140-108. Well, times have changed in Syracuse, anyhow.

Don Larsen, the World Series no-hit hero, said recently that he'd rather wind up tending bar than sign for less than $27,500 this season. Which prompts Frankie Frisch to remark that "somebody should write a treatise on the value of money."

"When I was playing 25 years ago," Frisch phewed, "you were lucky to get $5,000." Indicating that Frankie was born at least 30 years too soon.

The California-Florida feud still is in full bloom. During the recent California cold snap, Florida papers headlined: "Ice Hits Once-Sunny California." So California trainer Mish Tenney, nominating his colt California Kid for a Florida race, said he wanted to see a headline: "California Kid Wins Florida Derby."

Odds-Makers Convinced

Gene Fullmer convinced the odds-makers, at least, when he took the middleweight crown from Sugar Ray Robinson. In that bout, Robinson went into the ring an 11-10 favorite. The early line for their return bout at Chicago Stadium on April 24 has Fullmer the 14 to 5 choice.

You have to like crowded conditions to be a good rebounder in basketball and it seems only natural, therefore, that Tom Kelly is one of the best on the Long Island University freshman team.

Dunbar Upsets Rostraver

Surprise Leps in Overtime

Dunbar High's last-place basketballers threw a roadblock against Rostraver's title ambitions by scoring a 44-42 win in overtime play at the Mule floor last night.

As a result, Rostraver slipped back to third place in the Section 10 standings. Derry Twp. and Hurst both surged a full game in front of the collapsing Leps.

The game was a rough-house affair, with both teams spending a good part of the night lining up for jump balls.

Rostraver just couldn't seem to get going, with many of the Lep shots popping in and out o f the basket.

Dunbar led most of the way. It took a Rostraver rally in the final period to square the score at 40-40. The Leps piled up a 15-6 scoring edge in that frame.

Win in Overtime

However Dunbar had the stuff in the overtime session. Jim Fontaine contributed a pair of fouls and Gerry Doyle ripped the cords with the winning fielder.

Doyle and Partt led the Dunbar scorers with 12 points each. For Rostraver, Willie Allen had 11.

The Leps also lost the Jayvee game. The score was 44-38.

Monongahela Hi Nips Donora By 47 to 46

Dee Galiffa made two free throws with three seconds to play to give Monongahela a 47-46 win over visiting Donora last night in Section 5 action.

The Dragons led by a point with a minute to play. However Galiffa hit on a foul to tie the count at the 45 second mark.

Ramirez put the Dragon in front again with a foul 15 seconds later and that set the stage for Galiffa's heroics.

Galiffa led the winners with 20 points. For Donora, Dave Russell had 12.

The win was Monongahela's first in seven league outings this season.

Lineups follow:

Monongahela 47

Kansas Meets Iowa State Again Tonight

By UNITED PRESS

Kansas will be burning for revenge tonight when it resumes its court activity in a "rubber" game against Iowa State on the Jayhawks' home hardwood.

Kansas had been inactive since losing to the Cyclones, 39-37, in the biggest upset of the current season Jan. 14. It was the Jayhawks' first defeat in 12 games and dropped them into second place behind North Carolina in the United Press ratings.

North Carolina still is involved with mid-term examinations, but five other top-ranked teams also will be in action tonight.

Third-ranked Kentucky entertains Florida fourth-ranked Southern Methodist hosts Arkansas, fifth-ranked UCLA completes its two-game weekend series against Oregon State, sixth-ranked Louisville visits Memphis State, and seventh-ranked Illinois is at Purdue.

West Virginia converted 37 of 41 free throws in turning back St. John's, 105-72, Friday night at Morgantown, W. Va. Rod Hundley scored 30 points, including 10 of 12 free throws, and grabbed 13 rebounds against the outmanned Redmen from New York.

Wake Forest also displayed amazing accuracy in downing Clemson, 81-70, for its 14th victory in its last 15 games. Vince Yockel tallied 35 points for the Deacons, who hit on 71.4 per cent of their field goal attempts in racing to a 54-34 halftime advantage.

Elsewhere, Mississippi State defeated LSU, 81-72; VMI whipped Davidson, 75-60; Clester Harrington's 17 points helped Tulsa down Houston, 78-58; Tulane edged Mississippi, 65-64; San Francisco trounced Pepperdine, 78-67, as Art Day scored 27 points; UCLA downed Oregon State, 5-37, for its 32nd straight Pacific Coast Conference victory, and Bill Bond scored 23 points in leading Stanford to a 68-52 triumph over Oregon.

Williams Back In Boston to Discuss Contract

BOSTON (UP)— Red Sox slugger Ted Williams is back in Boston on his annual fishing demonstration trip with the Sportsmen's Show and expects to hook a 1957 contract worth more than $100,000 while he's here.

The tempestuous fence buster, heavily tanned and fresh from a season of fishing in Florida, flatly denied reports that he plans to marry for the second time.

In response to questions about New York television and fashion model Nelva More, Williams said, "Sure I know the girl. But there's nothing to that story at all. I have had it" — a statement he repeated and then carefully spelled out to newsmen.

Williams said he expects to sit down with Red Sox General Manager Joe Cronin to discuss his 1957 contract next week. The pact for baseball's highest paid player is expected to slice more than $100,000 out of Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey's checkbook.

Another famed slugger, Mickey Mantle of the Yankees, was forced to postpone his salary negotiations Friday because most of the team officials were tied up at the baseball meeting in New York.

The Chicago White Sox provided the only contract signing announcements. Right-handed relief pitcher Dixie Howell and catcher Earl Battey came to terms, giving the Chisox 19 players under contract for the forthcoming season.

Logart Angrily Defeats Bahama

NEW YORK (UP) — Welterweight contender Isaac Logart of Cuba, riding a wage of anger, said today he hoped his next Madison Square Garden opponent on March 29 would be Mexican Gaspar Ortega, "so I kin wheep heem like Yama Bahama las' night."

It was anger that made the fourth-ranking welterweight aspirant unexpectedly sharp and fast Friday night as he won a unanimous decision over middleweight Bahama from the Island of Bimini in their TV 10-rounder at the Garden.

Yama outweighed Logart 153½ pounds to 147½, and although the betting was at "even money," the former fishing guide from the Bahamas was out-speeded and outpunched by Logart in the exchanges.

Trainer Mundito Medina explained today, "Ike's been an angry fighter since that Mexican Ortega was given a bum decision over him at Boston in their return bout last year. His anger made him train and fight so hard since then he knocked out Duke Harris in seven and beat Yama last night."

Durocher, Rocky To Be Speakers

LONDON, Ont. (UP) — Former major league manager Leo Durocher and ex-heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano will take over the speakers platform in the first annual London Sportsmen's Banquet here on March 7. Proceeds from the banquet will go toward the new crippled children's treatment center.

Three Unbeaten Teams Lose in WPIAL Action

By UNITED PRESS

Three teams, two in Class A and one in Class B, were eliminated from the ranks of the undefeated Friday night as all 22 divisions of the WPIAL began the second half of their basketball schedules.

In Class A, Redstone, favored to score its eighth straight win in Section 11, was upset by South Union, 77-69, and Baldwin, seeking its sixth straight Section 13 triumph, was edged by Crafton, 52-50.

In Class B, Perrysville was handed its first defeat in Section 7 by runner-up Irwin, 66-62. Irwin was beaten at home in the opener by Perrysville.

A total of 12 teams, seven in Class A and five in Class B, came through the start of the second half grind unbeaten.

The Wampum Indians, well on their way to another Section 20 title in Class B, went over the 100-point mark again as they hung up their 42nd consecutive divisional triumph, defeating East Central Laurel, 107-43.

McKeesport put a damper on Duquesne's bid for contention in Section 6 by defeating the Little Dukes, 83-71. It was the Tigers' 17th consecutive divisional victory and their second over Duquesne this season.

The undefeated:

Sharon (3); Mt. Lebanon (4); Charleroi (5); McKeesport (6); Scott (7); Monaca (8) and North Allegheny (9) in Class A.

Snowden (14); McDonald (15); Aspinwall (19); Wampum (20) and Shannock Valley (21) in Class B.

Allentown Tops List of Undefeated Schoolboy Cagers

By BURTON W. SIGLIN

The only three major unbeaten schoolboy basketball teams—Allentown, Coal Township and McKeesport—rate excellent chances of getting through the remainder of their regular season schedules without absorbing a beating.

Each of the trio captured a key game Friday night in their efforts to remain in the "charmed circle."

Allentown got by its biggest threat in the Eastern League by downing Bethlehem, 60-54. Coal Township clobbered bitter city rival Shamokin Catholic, 81-56, and McKeesport downed Duquesne its chief rival in Section Six of the WPIAL, 83-71.

But two quintets which captured first half titles were as cold as the snow which blanketed most of the state and were unexpectedly defeated. Kingston, opening round winner in the Wyoming Valley League, lost to Nanticoke, 38-34, as Nesquehoning, Black Diamond League first half king, was surprised by Tamaqua, 48-42.

Second Half Play

Second half play got under way in most circuits although first half champions are still undetermined in several leagues where races ended in a two or three-way deadlock.

Tyrone, Lewistown and Hollidaysburg tied for opening round honors in the Mountain League and playoffs for the league title probably will be held next week.

In the South Penn League it was Carlisle, Hanover and Hershey which wound up in a three-way stalemate. Hanover downed Hershey in the first playoff and meets Carlisle for the title tonight.

Here are the leaders in the WPIAL after Friday night's games:

Section One, Ford City; Section Two, Greensburg and Uniontown; Section Three, Sharon; Section Four, Mt. Lebanon; Section Five, Charleroi; Section Six, McKeesport; Section Seven, Scott High; Section Eight, Monaca; Section Nine, North Allegheny; Section 10 Hurst and Derry; Section 11, Redstone and German; Section 12, Freeport and Tarnetum, and Section 13, Baldwin.

Still Unbetaen

Sharon, Mt. Lebanon, Charleroi, McKeesport, Scott, Monaca and North Allegheny are unbeaten in their circuits.

Clearfield hopped into first place in the District Nine League by smacking Bradford, 57-49. Brookville dropped out of a first-place deadlock by falling before DuBois, 39-33.

In the Susquehanna Valley League, Bloomsburg, winner of first round honors, is deadlocked with Lewisburg in second round play. Bloomsburg cracked Milton, 53-43, and Lewisburg outlasted Mifflinburg, 49-45.

Yeadon continued atop Section Two of the Philadelphia Suburban League by edging Media, 73-69.

Erie Strong Vincent, which seems to have the Section One title in District 10 salted away, returned to the winning column by clouting Erie Prep, 76-61. Vincent lost an exhibition game to Meadville's Section Two leaders earlier this week.

Make Threat to 'World Series'

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UP)—Carlos Garcia de la Nocoda, president of the Puerto Rican Baseball League, has confirmed receipt of a letter, believed to be postmarked from New York, threatening to blow to pieces the Puerto Rican team and its fans going to the Caribbean "World Series" in Havana next week. De La Noceda said the letter was "confidential" but refused further comment.

Addis Quits as NH Cage Coach

Ed Addis has resigned as head basketball coach at North Huntingdon Twp. High School, it aws learned today.

The resignation is to become effective at the end of the current season and will be presented to the school board for action at the Feb. 11 meeting.

Repotedly Addis, former coach at Brownsville, has decided to quit after just one season at North Huntingdon because of "purely personal reasons."

Addis was elected to the job last April, replacing Don Rose. His coaching salary was $600 per year.

The current North Huntingdon quint has won just two of 13 games. Recently Addis dropped his seniors from the team.

Baseball May Raise Base Pay

NEW YORK (UP) — American and National League baseball officials will meet in separate sessions today to discuss raising the present minimum salary from $6,000 to $7,500, a proposal that the players have been working on for more than a year.

Officials of both leagues also were scheduled to consider a recently-drawn up disaster plan whereby benefits would go to any ball club crippled in an emergency.

Winners Nip Great Greyhounds Rally In Section 5 Tilt

Fired-up Brownsville recoiled from a sensational Monessen rally to author an important 42-41 victory in a story-book thriller last night at the tiny Brownie gym.

The final period of the game was simply breath-taking. The events bordered on the fantastic.

The wild-and-wooly finish was accented even more by the fact that the first three stanzas were slow-motion affairs.

At the three period mark, the Brownies led 32-23. Up to that point, Monessen had made just six field goals, hitting on a mere 14 per cent of its field goal attempts.

Suddenly, though, the complexion of the game changed. The turning point really came late in the third period, with the home team ahead by 13 points at 32-19.

All-Court Press

Coach Frank Janosik ordered his MHS boys into an all-court press. The results were electrifying.

In the final minute of the third period, the Hounds scored four points to narrow the gap to 32-23.

The MHS rally rolled on in the fourth stanza. At the 4:45 mark Monessen pulled close at 32-29.

In the next 35 seconds, the close checking Hounds stole the ball no less than four times and they cashed in on each occasion. That gave Monessen a 37-32 lead with just four minutes to go.

Now it was Brownsville's turn to rally. The home team took advantage of several reckless Monessen passes to eventually tie the score at 39-39 with 1:56 left.

At the 1:20 mark, Bernie Hovan canned a foul to give his team a 40-39 lead.

Bad Break

With 1:12 to play, the Hounds got a bad break which really cost them the game. Carl Crawley hit on a layup, but Official Tinse Manown blew his whistle moments before when Maurice Mathieu was fouled far out of the play.

Little Maurice missed his try and the Brownies rebounded With 17 seconds to play, George Hanula was fouled and the spunky Brownie converted twice to give his team a 42-39 lead.

Monessen fought back. John Bogovich ripped the cords from underneath with six seconds to play.

A wild scramble at midcourt resulted in a jump ball with four seconds remaining. Monessen got the tip and Mathieu took a long set shot.

His effort rimmed the hoop and topped out. Frank Crisi rebounded and fired away at the buzzer. His shot, too, went in and out.

Ruins MHS Chances

The setback all but ruined Monessen's chances in the Section 5 race. The Hounds are now two games down to pace-setting Charleroi in the all-important loss column.

Call Off Junior High Tussle

The Monongahela-at-Monessen Junior High basketball game scheduled for yesterday was called off.

All school activities were suspended yesterday due to the death of Mary Nixon, long-time science instructor.

Bob Chuey was the game's high scorer, throwing in 14 points for the winners. However it was little Hanula who won the Brownie plaudits. He made eight points, cashing in on four of five fouls. His charity throws came in the final two minutes and eventually proved the winning margin.

For Monessen Crisi and Bogovich shared scoring honors with a dozen markers each.

The Hounds simply couldn't get going for threee periods. Their shots were just missing their mark.

Brownsville took advantage of the inaccuracy to move steadily in front. At intermission, the Brownies were ahead, 18-12. In the third period, they improved the spread to 13 points until the Monessen press started to work.

Monessen wound up making 15 of 56 field goal attempts for 27 per cent shooting. Happily the Hounds hit on nine of 13 tries in the final period.

Brownsville connected on 17 of 54 attempts for 31 per cent gunning.

Lots of Excitement

There was lots of excitement after the game, too. For one thing the Brownies were jubilant over the win — their first conquest of Monessen in five years.

For another, some of the fans were not pleased with the officiating. It took the police several minutes to insure order although no rough stuff actually occurred.

Dukes Favorable To Any NIT Bid

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Duquesne University is willing to consider a bid from the National Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The Dukes, sporting a 10-5 mark this season, received a feeler to the NIT Monday. In a statement yesterday, the university said:

"The questionnaire received from the MIBA (Metropolitan Intercollegiate Basketball Assn.) concerning a possible invitation to the NIT was considered by the Faculty Committee on Athletics. In view of the spirit and determination of the 1956-57 team, the committee has reacted favorably to the questionnaire."

California Cagers Top Bellmar by 50-46 Score

Visitors Build up Big Lead in First Half Against Hurricanes

California High's sharp-shooting basketballers tripped Bellmar, 50-46, in Section 5 action last night at the Hurricane floor.

The Trojans leaped off to a 30-18 lead in the first period against the slow-starting Bellmar boys.

The home team got going in the second half, but the counter-attack was too late.

Doug Gasher led the Trojans with 21 points. Ken Kulak, who made ten of ten foul tries, added 14 points.

Hewitt Leads Way

For Bellmar, John Hewitt led the way with 12 points. Bob Beggs and Ron Schmidt chipped in with eight points each.

The setback snapped a three game winning streak by the Canes.

By coming out on top, California maintained its grip on third place in the league standings.

Burdock Rolls First 600 Series

Pauline Burdock rolled her first 600 series for the Monessen Fifth Avenue girls last night.

Pauline put together games of 205-209-197 for a great 611 total. The fine performance helped Monessen to a clean sweep over Vestaburg at the netural Fredericktown alleys in the Mon Valley Bowling League action.

Monessen Sweeps In GPL Action

Monessen Bowling Center swept over Caste Village in Greater Pittsburgh Bowling League action last night.

The locals rolled games of 930-1040-932 for a grand total of 2906.

Joe Jannotta led the winners with a 229-625 series. Mike Madzy followed with a 226-592 chart.

Other Monessen scorers were Eli Freville, 229-587; Skeets Jones, 229-591; and Dave Schaum, 178-507.

Monessen still trails in its division by a game.

Monessen VNR In Double Win

Monessen VNR won two of three games from Uniontown in Mon Valley Bowling League action last night.

However the Monesen Myfords dropped three in a row to Monongahela.

Top scorers for VNR were Charles Daugherty, 217-566; and Art Palm, 211-526. Best men for the Myfords were Regie Szabo, 204-539 and James Salay, 196-502.

As a result of last night's action, the Myfords now have a 32-34 record while the VNR chart stands at 38-28.

Close Matches in Hearth League

All matches in the Ladies Open Hearth Bowling League ended in two-to-one decisions last night.

Trumps topped the Spades, Diamonds took the Hearts and Jokers bested the Clubs.

Scoring leaders were Ann Havrilak, 114-330; Helen Zdilla, 119-355; Marge Opalinski, 159-408; Carrie Palm, 153-421; Sophie Ward, 135-392; Minnie Koltash, 142-367.

Baseball Approves Big Pension Plan

By NORMAN MILLER

NEW YORK (UP)8 Bob Feller, who retired after a meteoric 21-year career, today left his fellow players "something to remember him by"—a pension plan equal to anything ever written in America.

Commissioner Ford Frick revealed the details of the new five-year plan, made possible by $16 million in revenue from All - Star Game and World Scries radio and television rights, and then paid tribute to the former Cleveland Indian fireballer's all - important role in bringing it about.

"I don't want to take anything away from men like Robin Roberts and Marty Marion who worked on it," said Frick. "But—everything considered—it was Feller who played the tremendous role."

Other Liberal Benefits

The plan, approved Friday by the 16 major league clubowners, provides for increases in benefits of $17.50 per month for each of the 10 years of major league service and an increase of $10 a month for each succeeding 10 years. Liberal insurance, disability and hospitalization benefits are also included in the plan, which goes into effect April 1.

Under the terms of the program, five-year major league veterans who retire at 50 years of age will receive $88 a month for the rest of their lives. Ten-year veterans will receive $175 a month and 20-year veterans $275 a month.

More For Waiting

Players who do not want their benefits at the age of 50 may leave the money in the fund and receive increased benefits in later years. For example, a 20-year veteran who delayed receipt of his benefits until 65, would receive $550 a month.

The players' contribution to the program will be $2 a day throughout the season. In the past, the players contributed from 27 cents to $2.50 per day depending upon their salaries.

The new plans includes all players who were covered by the original one initiated on April 1, 1947. It means that a player like Rollie Hemsley, who caught 19 years in the majors including two games in 1947, will receive $275 beginning next June 24, when he celebrates his 50th birthday, instead of a mere $100 a month.

Always so good, unselfish and kind,
None on this earth your equal we'll find,
Honorable and true in all of your ways,
Loving and faithful to the end of your days.
Honest and liberal, ever upright,
Just in your judgment, always right
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew
One in a million that mother was you
Two years have passed, our hearts are still sore
As time rolls on, we miss you more,

Brothers Sent to Huntingdon School

GREENSBURG, Pa (UP)—Two Westmoreland County brothers indicted on murder charges have been committed to the Pennsylvania School for Defective Delinquents at Huntingdon.

Judge Edward G. Bauer signed the committment order yesterday for William W. Welty, 22 and Nelson E. Welty, 25, both of Kingsview, near Scottdale

They were accused of clubbing to death Cleveland U Baird, 72, Scottdale in an attempted holdup last Oct 19 Two psychiatrists reported the brothers were "severely defective, and in fact delinquent."

Warmer Weather For February

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Weather Bureau today forecast warmer weather than normal during February for the eastern half of the United States, and abnormal amounts of rain or snow for most of the country.

The bureau's 30-day forecast for February predicted temperatures above seasonal averages east of a line extending from the Great Lakes through central Texas

Below normal temperatures were forecast for the rest of the nation

The bureau said rain or snow is expected to exceed normal amounts over most of the nation except for the Pacific Northwest and Gulf Coast where nearl normal or subnormal moisture was forecast.

Pilots Strike Set for Feb. 8

CHICAGO (UP)— The Air Line Pilots Association (AFL-CIO) today announced a strike against Pan American World Airways scheduled for Feb 8

The union said 1 536 pilots would go off the job at 11 59 p m, Feb 8, local time in all 58 countries served by the line.

Clarence N Sayen, union president, said no flights would originate after the deadline, but planes in the air would continue to their destination

The union began negotiations on the issues of pay rates, rules and working conditions and contract during last July 30 The union said the Pan American pilots have not received a pay raise since 1952.

Actress's Arm Is Broken at Filming

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Actress Janet Leigh today was recovering from a broken arm suffered when actor Jesse White stumbled and fell on her during the filming of a television drama

Miss Leigh finished her role with the arm taped before going to a doctor for treatment Friday. The arm was placed in a cast and the actress said she was "uncertain" whether she will be able to start work on a movie next week.

Paper Claims Ike May Invite Nasser

CAIRO (UP)—The newspaper Al Ahram reported today that President Eisenhower "might invite" Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser to Washington

The newspaper said such an invitation might result from the forthcoming visit to Cairo of a US envoy who is explaining the Eisennower Doctrine to Middle East countries

There was no immediate official comment on the report.

Meany Meeting with Factions in AFL-CIO

MIAMI BEACH, Fla (UP)— AFL-CIO President George Meany today planned weekend meetings with warring factions in the huge labor organization to work out a formula for settling jurisdictional disputes

Meany still had not announced any progress in solving disputes between the Industrial Union Department (IUD) and the Building Trades Department the two major divisions in the makeup of the AFL-CIO.

But he met throughout the week with representatives of both factions at the AFL-CIO Executive Council's mid-winter conference

The union leaders quit the conference table today and were flown in helicopters to an aircraft carrier offshore for a luncheon They planned to relax over the weekend before winding up the conferences Monday and Tuesday

Friday, Vice President James R Hoffa of the powerful Teamsters Union announced that per capita payments to the IUD covering some 375,000 Teamsters affiliated with that department will be withheld beginning this month

This apparently was part of a move announced earlier to strengthen the Building Trades Department, to which the majority of the Teamsters' 1 400,000 members belong

Hoffa said after announcing withholding of the funds from the IUD that the Teamsters "absolutely" do not plan to withdraw from the AFL-CIO

The feud between the IUD composed mostly of former CIO workers in mass production industry, and the Building Trades Department made up chiefly of the craft unions of the old AFL, has gone on for some 20 years The fight is fundamentally over which workers are entitled to do what jobs

President David J Mc Donald of the big United Steelworkers Union, one of the groups around which the jurisdictional battle revolves appeared before the council Friday to assure members he "does not believe the AFL-CIO is going on the rocks"

Alcorn Wants to Build Strong GOP

WASHINGTON (UP) — New GOP National Chairman H Meade Alcorn Jr. wants to build a larger and stronger party organization to prepare for future election campaigns.

He believes President Eisenhower has given the party a good program and that it will come up with good candidates if it has a good organization at all levels

Hopes Dim for Settlement of Tugboat Strike

NEW YORK (UP)—Steps were taken today to set up an emergency fuel oil rationing system in the event a crippling New York harbor strike of tug and barge crewmen extends beyond next week

Hopes for an early settlement of the two-day walkout were dim and prospects were for a prolonged work stoppage that could result in serious shortages of fuel oil, coal and other vital materials Some food deliveries also were affected by Friday's walkout of 4,000 members of Local 333, United Marine Division of the National Maritime Union.

Mayor Robert F Wagner asked the oil industry to set up a system of allocations for essential consumers, to be placed in effect if needed

Slaying Clues Are Released

CHICAGO (UP) — Police informed the public of two clues in the Grimes sisters murders today in the hope that they might receive outside help in the search for the killer of the two teenage sisters.

The discovery of an imported gold perfume atomizer and a gold eyebrow pencil near the bodies of Barbara, 15, and Patricia Grimes, 13, when they were found last Jan. 22, had been kept secret.

Police said their presence at the scene indicated they could have been used as a lure to attract the girls into a car on the night of their disappearance Dec. 28.

Authorities said they had made no mention of the two articles in the hope they could learn who purchased the expensive pieces. But police have failed to locate the source of the two beauty aids so Police Lt. Joseph Morris asked anyone with knowledge of who might have owned the articles to come forward.

Police still do not know the cause of the girls' death, or when it happened. They have renewed their search for the killer after Benme (The Dishwasher) Bedwell repudiated his confession to the murders.

A third court hearing on Bedwell's attempt to gain freedom on bond was scheduled to be held today.

Alcohol and TB Don't Mix

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

We've all heard the warning that alcohol and gasoline don't mix. Safe driving campaigns are continually making the public more conscious of this fact.

Unfortunately, however, alcohol and tuberculosis do mix — all too easily. This is a problem of which very few persons are aware.

The rate of alcoholism among tuberculosis patients is much greater than the TB rate among the general population. And unless we can do something to stem the tide, this proportion will continue to increase.

In fact, Dr. Dan Morse, superintendent and medical director of the Peoria, Illinois Tuberculosis Sanitarium, reports the problem is rapidly becoming one of the most important deterents to effective control of tuberculosis.

If we were to stamp out all but one cause of tuberculosis in your community, chances are that the sole remaining victim would be an alcoholic.

Studies show that seldom does an alcoholic with tuberculosis recover completely, unless he reforms.

Dr. Morse puts it a bit more bluntly.

"The alcoholic with tuberculosis who continues his alcoholism almost always ends up with the undertaker."

An alcoholic with tuberculosis presents a serious problem to a community.

Because he is an alcoholic, he will seek friends who are apt to be alcoholics. And since severe alcoholism interferes with proper nutrition and lowers resistance to all diseases, his drinking companions are extremely vulnerable to infection, too.

What can we do about the problem?

Dr. Morse advocates compulsory isolation of all alcoholics with tuberculosis in a contagious stage who do not voluntarily isolate themselves. Going a step farther, he suggests that we re-examine our attitudes toward drinking in general. He explains:

"Our present culture in the United States not only accepts social drinking but makes it a 'must.' This attitude is a definite change from 30 to 40 years ago.

"Perhaps we need to retreat a little. If we continue to think as we do, the vast majority of the coming generations will be drinkers, a certain percentage will be alcoholics — and the problem will always be with us."

It's food for thought, all right.
